Doubt Arab Threat Will Hold Against Counter-Force

Strong doubts that the Arabs will carry out threats to invade Palestine in force in the event of partition were expressed in New York by three Palestinian labor leaders.

They are Abba Hushi, secretary of the Haifa Labor Council; Joseph Bankover, member of the immigration department of Histadrut (the Jewish Labor Federation), who arrived aboard the Rosnia; and Don Pines, co-editor of "Davar", largest daily in Palestine, who came to the United States several months ago.

Those three and two others, Menahem Bader and Dr. Abraham Katznelson, who will arrive shortly, came to aid the National Committee for Labor Palestine in its drive for $5,000,000, which opened this week. They were interviewed at the committee headquarters at 45 East Seventeenth Street.

Mr. Hushi said that the Jewish population of Palestine was ready for any Arab attack, but added that he though British and American "oil men and imperialists" are overstressing the danger of mass Arab uprisings.

The Arab states, he said, "need American dollars and English pounds." Citing figures on the large non-Arab minority groups in Iraq, Syria, and Lebanon, he said they indicated that the governments of those countries will not "be able to remove a single soldier from their own states" for fear of the governments being overthrown.

"However," Mr. Hushi continued, "we don't think we're entirely safe. We don't put an invasion [illegible] in Palestine, with its corps of men trained as he was by the British, will be able to repulse the Arabs, "although we may expect sacrifices." The Arabs know this full well, he said, asserting "they will try their luck only if they can count on support from outside the Arab League."

At the same time, as reported by Thomas J. Hamilton, in the New York Times, the Arabs argue that since force obviously will be necessary to impose partition, and this is to be provided through the United Nations, this plan would give the Soviet Union an opportunity to participate in whatever military action may be required in a key strategic area of the Near East. The United States has proposed a volunteer constabulary force, recruited on an international basis, instead of sending troops from any country, but if the Arab threats of intervention are carried out this presumably would require military forces supplied by different members of the United Nations.

President Truman had proposed a plan to raise a voluntary international police force to implement the partition of Palestine, but encountered strong opposition in Congress and the Army against using

TEST CASE MAY PROVIDE FOR THOUSANDS

The Palestine Supreme Court made a decision in favor of a Jewish couple in a test case that may provide legal status for more than 20,000 Jews who migrated to Palestine without proper certificates.

The court ruled the Government must give Gershom Friedman of Tel Aviv and his wife, Erna, legal status because years ago two certificates had been deducted for them from the official immigration quota.

The couple came to Palestine in 1939 on a limited tourist visa. They overstayed the visa because it was impossible for them to return to Europe. When the police ordered their deportation they appealed to the Palestine High Commisioner, who acted on humanitarian grounds, as in a number of similar cases, and allowed them to remain.

Four Of Ten In Germany Harsh Anti-Semites

Four out of ten Germans are bitterly anti-Semitic and the other six show strong signs of anti-Semitism, according to the Rev. Dr. Carl Herman Voss, extension secretary of the Church Peace Union and World Alliance for International Friendship Through the South African during which he visited displaced persons camps in Germany and conferred with church leaders. He was interviewed at his office, 70 Fifth Avenue.

"There seems to be little change of heart in the average German," Dr. Voss said. "In just a few ministers and labor leaders is there any evidence of a sense of guilt."

Dr. Voss said he was convinced that Jewish DPs have no future in Germany or in Europe generally, which he said had been poisoned by Nazi anti-Semitism. He passed several weeks in Palestine on his trip, which was in the interests of the World Congress of Religious Support of the United Nations, to be held in Boston next year.

Dr. Voss said he believed that Jewish DPs in Europe should be permitted to emigrate to Palestine to build a national home. He added, however, that the United States should also accept Jewish DPs.

Palestine Is Still Main DP Solution, Bernstein Reports

Rabbi Philip S. Bernstein of Rochester, N.Y., who formerly was Advisor on Jewish Affairs to the United States Army Commanders in Germany and Austria, declared in Washington in his final report to Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall that "the opening of Palestine to large-scale immigration is indispensable to the solution of the displaced persons problem."

"We will continue to face indefinitely the costs and the dangers of this unsettling situation in the heart of Europe," he said, "until they are permitted to enter Palestine.

"It is to be hoped, therefore, that the United States Government, not only out of self-interest, for it carries the largest burden of responsibility for the DP's, but also out of consideration for their suffering, needs and wishes, will give its support to such a solution of the problem of Palestine as will enable these displaced Jews to go there."

Rabbi Bernstein referred to estimates that 17,000 Jews have come to the United States from Germany and Austria since President Truman announced the re-establishment of the quota system two years ago.

"This has been helpful," he said, "but does not affect the bulk of the problem. This can be relieved only by some emergency liberalization of immigration as was proposed in the Stratton Bill to admit 100,000 displaced persons per year for four years.

"It is my estimate that no more than about 60,000 of the Jewish DP's wish to come to the United States, the balance desiring to remain

Forum Approves UN Plan; Calls For DP Immigration

Confidence in the feasibility of policing Palestine by an international voluntary constabulary as suggested by the United States delegation to the United Nations, was voiced by former Justice Joseph M. Proskauer, president of the American Jewish Committee.

Mr. Proskauer, speaking at a foreign affairs forum of the New York chapter of the committee, held at the Hunter College Assembly Hall, Park Avenue and Sixty-ninth Street, said that partition of Palestine, along the lines recommended by the majority of the United Nations Special Committee, would make possible immediate immigration of Jews into Palestine and establish their right to acquire land there. The basic rights of immigration and land purchase are the primary concern of his organization, he added.

Other speakers included Irving M. Engel, chairman of the chapter; Milton Winn, member of the foreign affairs committee of the organization, and Dr. John Slawson, executive vice-president.

Mr. Engel called for the admission to the United States of a fair share of the displaced persons in European camps.

"The entire civilized world has this problem on its conscience, but has not bestirred itself sufficiently to remove these poor souls from the scenes of their suffering," he said. "Even our country, with its population of nearly 150,000,000, its vast resources, its wide expanses of unoccupied land, has admitted only a handful, and those grudgingly and in a spirit of criticism and dissatisfaction."

Mr. Winn also stressed the need

Was Collector Of Famed Manuscripts

Louis J. Haber, book, manuscript and autograph collector and treasurer emeritus of the Grolier Club, whose members are interested in bibliography, typography and the graphic arts, died in St. Barnabas Hospital, Bronx, N.Y., after a long illness. Mr. Haber, whose last home was at 90 Neptune Avenue, Woodmere, L.I., was 89 years old.

Born in New York, Mr. Haber attended City College and at 17 became a bookkeeper there. Later he lived for a time in Texas and in 1876 joined H. H. Upham & Co., sign makers and commercial printers; and after a few years Mr. Haber became a partner and eventually he acquired the entire business. He retired from its presidency more than fifteen years ago.

Mr. Haber had begun to collect books, manuscripts and autographs as a young man, and he joined the Grolier Club in 1876, a year after it was founded. Mr. Haber became treasurer of the club and when he died was an honorary member and the oldest member in years of affiliation.

For more than two decades after he joined the club Mr. Haber built up a notable collection of books, manuscripts and autograph letters, including English and American rarities. Among the items were the manuscript of Oscar Wilde's "The Picture of Dorian Gray"; the manuscript of Robert Louis Stevenson's unfinished story, "The Great North Road"; a Washington Irving manuscript concerning the conquest of Mexico; an autographed letter of John Keats with his manuscript of "Eve of St. Mark"; the manuscript of the first short story by Rudyard Kipling published in

Mr. Haber's library included manuscripts of Walt Whitman and John Greenleaf Whittier and many finely bound books. His library was sold for about $60,000 in 1909 at the Anderson Galleries.

Early in his career Mr. Haber was a Tammany election inspector in Manhattan, but later broke with Tammany and became an independent Democrat and a member of the old Reform Club. He campaigned for Grover Cleveland in 1884, when Mr. Cleveland was elected President. Mr. Haber was at one time an active campaigner for civil service reform.

Jews, Arabs, Group For Action On British Proposal

An authoritative source announced in London that Britain is planning to withdraw her troops and administration from Palestine by March, 1949, "at the very latest," barring a United Nations decision agreeable to both Jews and Arabs.

Lieutenant General Sir Alan Gordon Cunningham, British High Commissioner in the Holy Land, another informant said, is making a village-by-village tour to make this determination clear to both Arab and Jew in the hope they will "get together" and avoid confusion when Britain withdraws.

The authoritative source said the British plans would not prejudice the pledge given to the U. N. that Britain would be ready to play a part in implementing any plan acceptable to both Jews and Arabs, coming from the United Nations' two subcommittees on Palestine, one of which is for partition, and one for an Arab single state.

Palestine's Jewish National Council has established a Legal Department in the meantime, which, eventually, may be charged with drafting a constitution and a legal code for a Jewish state, it was announced in Jerusalem.

The creation of this department is one of many measures being taken by Zionist institutions to prepare for the possible advent of Jewish independence in Palestine.

The new Legal Department of the National Council, which is the administrative body of the Jewish community, is headed by Dr. Ezekiel Wahrhaftig, Lithuanian-born lawyer who spent the war years in the United States and has now become a Palestinian citizen and [illegible] of the National Council, to deal with current legal problems and, eventually, to study the question of a legal and constitutional system for the Jewish state, a Jewish Agency spokesman said.

Another preparatory measure announced was the formation of a Civic Guard for Jerusalem and other Jewish urban centers. Posters inviting recruits over 30 years of age were posted recently by the Jerusalem Jewish Community Council. Younger Jews are expected to join other branches of the community defense forces, reports Clifton Daniel, of the New York

HollanderPresident Was Noted Philanthropist

Michael Hollander, president and chairman of the board of directors of A. Hollander & Son, Inc., an international concern of fur dressers and dyers with headquarters in Newark, N.J., died on October 20, in Doctors Hospital, New York, after an illness of several years. His home was in Elberon, N.J. He was 63 years old.

Mr. Hollander was also president of the Hollanderizing Corporation of America, a fur cleaning company, and of A. Hollander & Son, Ltd., of Canada. A leader in the fur industry for many years, he also was active in charity groups.

At the age of 12 he went to work for his father, the late Adolph Hollander, and at 18 he became a salesman. In 1925, when the family firm was incorporated, he became president. He held the position until his death.

Mr. Hollander had served as board chairman of the Guardian Trust Company of Newark and as a director of the Sterling National Bank and Trust Company of New York. In 1936 he was chairman of the National Fur Tax Committee.

In 1925 he was active in the organization which grew into the Chest and Foundation of the Fur Industry of the City of New York, Inc., a group which raises sums of money for philanthropies of many kinds. He was the first president of the organization and at his death its honorary president.

A founder of the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York, Inc., he did much to raise money on behalf of victims of persecution and war abroad, both by his personal generosity and his advice and leadership. He aided also Beth Israel Hospital, Newark.

During the recent war, Mr. Hollander was chairman of several war-chest campaigns in the fur industry. He served as chairman of the industry's war emergency board. In 1945 he was named as the outstanding man in the fur industry by the Fur Garment Travelling Salesmen's Association.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Nettie Weiser Hollander; two daughters, Mrs. Chester D. Judis and Mrs. George Levin; and a brother, Benjamin W. Hollander, treasurer of A. Hollander & Son, Inc.

Boundary To Favor Arabs Over Jewish 'Minimum'

Any boundary changes made in the Palestine partition plan before the United Nations General Assembly, will favor the Arabs and will remove additional square miles from an area which the Jewish Agency for Palestine insists is already an irreducible minimum, it was indicated.

It is regarded as certain that Jaffa, the Arab Mediterranean port of nearly 100,000 population, will be removed from its present status in the proposed Jewish state and be awarded to the proposed Arab state. The majority report favors the inclusion of almost as many Arabs as Jews in the proposed Jewish state. The United States has announced that it wants the predominantly Arab port of Jaffa given to the Arab rather than to the Jewish state.

And, there is a strong possibility that the turning over of Jaffa to the proposed Arab state will be done by extending the nearest inland portion of the Arab state westward to the coast in a bulge that would terminate at Jaffa. The bulge would cut through territory now in the proposed Jewish state.

Barring a physical shifting of populations, the proposed Jewish state as now defined would have a minority of 407,000 Arabs against a majority of 498,000 Jews. The size of the Arab minority has so surprised many delegations, including even pro-partition delegations, according to John G. Rogers, in the New York Herald Tribune, that it is expected to be reduced through chipping away here and there at the boundaries of the proposed Jewish state.

In asking for an increase rather than a decrease of their proposed state, the Jews will run into the tough fact that almost any increase would take in more Arabs than it would Jews, thus further enlarging the size of the already

Rothschild, Financier, Physician, Playwright, Was First Of Famous House To Enter Science

Baron Henri de Rothschild, retired financier, physician and playwright, died at his estate, Castle Beau Cidri, in Jouxetens, near Lausanne, Switzerland. His age was 76. He had suffered from a heart ailment for ten years.

Baron Rothschild was a member of the well-known French banking family, cousins to the English Rothschilds. He had visited the United States in 1890, 1926, 1930 and 1935.

Baron Henri de Rothschild was one of the best-known members of the world-famous House of Rothschild, the Frankfort banking company founded by Meyer Amschel Rothschild, which figured in international finance for more than five generations.

Born in Paris, he was a son of Baron James Rothschild, who in turn was a son of Charlotte, of the French branch of the family, and Nathaniel, of the English branch.

The Baron's land and art holdings in France were extensive. The Vichy Government confiscated all his property and revoked his French citizenship, under the anti-Semitic laws established by that regime. An early act of the new French Government, after the recent war, was to restore to him both his property and his citizenship.

The first of his family to enter a scientific career, he made a study of infantile diseases. Among his philanthropies, he set up a system of free milk for Paris workers.

The Baron Henri was educated in France and qualified there as a physician. He studied children's diseases and founded the Henri de Rothschild Surgical Clinic, which he equipped with a 15,000-volume library. He also established the Institut Pierre Curie, in Paris, for research in the treatment of cancer with radium. He supplied the institution with radium from his radium works at St. Denis. For these public services he was made a member of the Academy of Medicine in France and a Commander of the Legion of Honor.

As a dramatist, he wrote, under the name of Andre Pascal, a dozen plays that achieved success in the Paris theatre, including "Le Caduceo." "Le Rampe" and "Heritage." He built his own model theatre in Paris, the Pigalle, the most luxurious and best equipped, mechanically, of all the city's playhouses.

Baron Henri was an art collector of note. His collection of Chardin was said to be the finest in the world, and he owned paintings by Boucher and Fragonard and Gobelin and Beauvais tapestries. In 1933 he gave his collection of autographs, consisting of over 5,000 documents, some dating from the fourteenth century, to the French National Library. The personal correspondence of King Francis I with Charles V and a letter from Rabelais to Guillaume Budo were included.

Baron Henri was probably the wealthiest man in France before the war. In 1924 it was disclosed that he had paid income tax on 29,000,000 francs, his tax being the highest in the country.

Scientific agriculture was among his varied interests. He was credited with having introduced the American milking machine in France, and on his estate in Vaux de Carnay blooded sheep, cattle and poultry were raised.

At the insistence of the Nazis, the Vichy government sized Baron Henri's possessions, including the chateau Le Muette near Paris, in 1942 under the Vichy anti-Semitic laws. All his civil rights and possessions were restored to him by the French Council of State in 1944. He fled the country at the time of the German invasion.

His library, which he inherited from his father, contained many rare books, and his art collection of great masters was well known.

The Baron was prominent in British society and was a member of the Royal Yacht Squadron at Cowes. His wife, Mathilde Weinweiler, died in 1926. They had two sons, James and Philip, and a daughter, Nadine, who was married to Adrien Thierry, then counselor of the French Embassy at London.

The Baron fled to Brazil when the Germans invaded France in the spring of 1940. He was active in the Zionist movement, and was one of the forces working after the first World War for the acceptance mandate over Palestine. He was active also in fostering land purchases there by Jews.

Many years ago, one of his philanthropies nearly cost him his life. Returning late from the opera one night he was fired [illegible] five times, and hit once, in the leg, by a milk dealer who contended that Baron Rothschild's free-milk stations had put him out of business.

His plays frequently caused controversy, since most of them were satires on the various phases of life he had encountered in his own varied activities, but the critical opinion of them was generally high.

Fight For Health Of Survivors Requires Huge Sum, Survey Shows

An extensive and long-range program of medical, dental and psychotherapeutic care will be required to return Europe's Jews to normal health, it was reported in New York by Dr. Jacob J. Golub, Director of the Hospital for Joint Diseases, and Chairman of the Health Committee of the Joint Distribution Committee, major American agency aiding distressed Jews overseas.

Summarizing findings of a six-week survey conducted in eight European countries this summer, Dr. Golub estimated that the fight for health among Europe's Jewish survivors would require expansion of the already widespread health activities of the JDC at a cost of at least $20,000,000 over the next two years. The JDC, which now supports 217 medical institutions in behalf of the 1,500,000 Jewish men, women and children on the continent, receives its funds in the U.S. from the $170,000,000 campaign of the United Jewish Appeal.

Three major health problems must be faced immediately, Dr. Golub told a special meeting of the Health Committee, if hard-won health gains by the JDC are not to be lost this coming winter.

He listed those as:

1. The high incidence of tuberculosis among Jews throughout Europe and in the displaced persons' camps of Germany, Austria and Italy, and particularly, the recurrences of the infection after partial or complete cure.
2. The incidence of chronic disease, disabling disease and physical impairments, which is higher among displaced Jews than among the general population.
3. The "critical" dental condition which prevails uniformly among Jews on the continent.

As a first step in meeting these health problems, Dr. Golub recommended the immediate establishment of five medical teams to conduct thorough physical and X-ray examinations, within a three-month period, of all Jewish displaced persons living in the DP camps of central Europe.

The results of this examination, Dr. Golub said, would provide a basic framework for health activity, particularly in combatting tuberculosis, which is occuring among Jews in the displaced persons' camps at an estimated rate of [illegible]

[illegible] tuberculosis among Jewish Displaced Persons must be given the same attention as arresting and curing the disease, Dr. Golub said. Forced to return from sanatoria and hospitals to "virtually primitive conditions" in the DP camps, even those who have a complete recovery frequently show a recurrence of the infection, he stated.

To stem the recurrence of disease, Dr. Golub further proposed the establishment of a Division on Rehabilitation under the Medical Department which would serve displaced persons who have partially or completely recovered from tuberculosis and other chronic or acute illness, and insure lasting recovery or retention of the degree of improvement which has been attained.

At the present time, Dr. Golub pointed out, the JDC is supporting no fewere than seventeen sanatoria for tuberculosis on the continent, in addition to numerous JDC-supported hospitals which care for tuberculous patients. These institutions are being operated in co-operation with local organizations such as TOZ in Poland and overall Jewish European health organizations such as the OSE-Union, all of which receive financial support from the JDC.

Turning to dental care, which he ranked high on the list of health needs among Europe's Jews, Dr. Golub cited as an illustration of urgent need the fact that 86 per cent of the Jewish population of Poland requires dental prosthesis, the result of years of wartime neglect and lack of personnel. The JDC, which provides dental care through 90 dispensaries and clinics on the continent, is now expanding its dental care program, he reported, to provide service through additional centralized clinics, mobile dental units and utilization of the services of local private dentists.

The widespread health activities undertaken by the JDC since the liberation, representing 20 per cent of the funds it has expended abroad, have also helped to hold down acute general diseases and epidemic diseases, Dr. Golub declared.

"Two health 'miracles' have taken place among the Jews of Europe," he told his audience. "No epidemics have as yet broken out among the Jewish men, women and children, most of whom are living under virtually primitive conditions; and no unusually large number of psychoneurotic behaviour problems have become apparent among a people who have endured the most intense suffering and tragedy in history."

"The question nevertheless arises," he warned, "as to how long most of these people can continue to live as they are compelled to, before breaking down physically and mentally."

Included in Dr. Golub's recommendations were: establishment of a Nursing Education Division to provide training for practical nurses in six schools to be opened on the continent; providing increased opportunities for study in [illegible]

[illegible] ish physicians; creating additional mental hygiene teams of the type recently organized and sent to Cyprus by the JDC, in cooperation with Hadassah Medical Organization, and intensifying training for personnel now engaged in prenatal, maternity and child-care programs.

Grain Growers Aided By Invention

Grain growers in the Emek, the valley which runs from behind Haifa toward central Palestine, are showing keen interest in a straw-harvester invented by a member of the "Gvat" communal settlement.

This machine is still nameless, except for the children's label of "the railroad." If it proves generally acceptable it will mean a revolution in straw harvesting in Palestine.

While the grain is being harvested and sacked this "railroad" harvests the straw and feeds it to the binder. This simultaneous operation eliminates the bothersome and expensive straw harvesting which often dragged on during most of the summer months. With this machine four men can harvest the wheat and straw from 70 to 80 dunams a day. The process also increases the straw yield by about 30 percent, since it licks the fields clean.

Itzhak Kunubovich, a carpenter and son of a carpenter, the inventor, and Shmuel Ravinitski, a smith and son of a smith, who executes the inventions, came to Palestine from the Pinsk district and have been working at the same bench in their Emek settlement ever since. Itzhak began his career as an inventor in 1929 with a revolving cupboard for dishes and cutlery which is still doing service in the "Gvat" dining hall. Since then his inventions have ranged from small time-saving gadgets in every branch of the farm to his "railroad". His self-closing doors in the fowl run prevent chickens escaping during feeding time.

His recently completed vegetable-washer has attracted much attention, and "Gvat" has received orders to make a number of them. Operating on the dish-washer principle, this machine washes five crates of vegetables in a three-minute operation.

Federation Workers Get More Pay

On the eve of launching of $15,600,000 campaign, an agreement between 210 fund-raising workers and the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of New York dispelled the danger of a work stoppage which could have crippled welfare service at the federation's 118 affiliated agencies.

The agreement was reached through the State Mediation Board and calls for a two-year contract, retroactive to last July 1, with wage increases of between $4.50 and $7.69 a week this year, further increases next year of between $2 and $3.85 a week and severance pay at double the present rate.

Both the federation and the Social Service Employees Union — Local 19 of the United Office and Professional Workers of America, a Congress of Industrial Organizations affiliate — commended the work of Arthur S. Meyer, chairman of the mediation board, who handled negotiations for the last three weeks.

Settlement of the dispute with the federation, which is primarily a fund-raising organization with offices at 71 West Forty-seventh Street, cleared the scene for a dinner at the Hotel Commodor, where Governor Thomas E. Dewey launched the federation's annual appeal.

One of the contracts signed is with the Bronx Y. M. H. A. This agreement sets up for social workers a minimum salary of $2,900, which he described as the highest in the city if not in the country. The professional staff will receive an annual increase of $700 and the office workers will get weekly increases of $6 and a basic minimum of $37.50 a week.

Count Walter Erich von Pelshausen, former commandant of the Radegoszcza concentration camp, near Lodz, has been condemned to death for ordering the burning alive of 2,500 Jews.

Generous Gifts On Large Scale Are The Only Answer

The following report, describing the desperate need for clothing in Austria was received from Mrs. Leon Harris, National Board member of the SOS (Supplies for Overseas Survivors) Collection of the Joint Distribution Committee. Mrs. Harris, who is also Chief Vienna Area Officer for Women's American ORT, is now on an inspection tour of DP camps in Europe. Her report follows:

"Vienna — Nowhere in Europe is the need for clothing more desperate than in Austria where in the past few months, 10,000 Jewish refugees have crossed the border from Rumania, fleeing from famine. The great majority are families with children of all ages, including tiny babies, most of them completely destitute. Many of them are wearing only a pair of thin, patched trousers and dozens of children have no more than a little ragged shirt on their backs. Nearly all are barefoot and desperately need strong shoes, over-shoes and woollen underwear to face the approaching winter.

"In the Rothschild Hospital in Vienna there are 4,500 Rumanian Jewish refugees packed into a building normally housing at the most 1,000 persons. They are in dire need of good, warm clothing for the present stocks of the Joint Distribution Committee, the only organization caring for these refugees, are inadequate to meet their many needs.

"These thousands of people returned home after the war to find they had lost all they possessed in the world. And, also to find ugly signs of anti-Semitism which made it impossible to start their lives over again. Forced once again to migrate, they made their way as best they could. They travelled mainly on foot with their pitifully few personal possessions—no more than they could carry or maybe push in a little hand-cart. Even these few poor possessions frequently were lost or stolen in the course of clandestine frontier crossings, so they often were reduced to the clothes on their backs — no more than rags."

Mrs. Harris urged the SOS Collection, now campaigning for 6,000,000 pounds of food and clothing in a Special Fall Campaign, to speed its shipments of relief supplies. "Only generous gifts on a large scale, of good, serviceable clothing can avert disastrous suffering this winter by these thousands who have already suffered so much," she said. In addition to clothing, especially winter clothing for men, women and children, and food, including milk for children and protein-rich meats and fish, Mrs. Harris urged increased shipments of layette items for thousands of infants now wrapped in old rags or newspapers.

The SOS Collection is a special project of the JDC in cooperation with 16 national Jewish women's agencies and other groups. SOS supplies supplement the regular purchases of the JDC for its overseas relief, resettlement and reconstruction programs, which are made possible by the United Jewish Appeal.

Want 100,000 DP Each Year

A New England conference on displaced persons urged speedy enactment of legislation to admit 100,000 DP's annually for four years.

At a conference sponsored by the Citizens Committee on Displaced Persons a resolution was adopted declaring that "no effort should be spared to bring to the attention of Senators and United States Representatives the moral importance of speedy enactment" of the pending legislation.

Measures now before Congress would provide for the admission of 100,000 such persons annually for four years.

Governor Robert F. Bradford told the conference, attended by persons from all the New England states, that "in Massachusetts we all stem from displaced persons; every group that came here came because they were not wanted elsewhere, for religious or political or racial reasons."

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS
Don Graham

The other day I had an interesting conversation with a piano tuner who was working in my home.

Although I had always thought his profession a rather monotonous one, I was soon to change my mind. For he talked so engagingly about his work, the construction of the instrument and other related matters, that I found myself becoming genuinely interested.

But what fascinated me most was his great enthusiasm for his work.

This attitude towards one's job is greatly to be desired. Enthusiasm has a magic, warming effect on all of us. And in a worker—be he salesman or carpenter, butcher or book-keeper—it wins admiration and co-operation from employers, customers and all others with whom he comes in contact.

So, especially to younger men, I would say: Regardless of whatever headaches and disappointments your work may bring, keep on being enthusiastic!

Millions of owners and beneficiaries of life insurance policies enthusiastically endorse this form of investment for security. Agents of the life insurance companies in Canada, too, are enthusiastic about their work because it renders a valuable service.

Canada's "Unwritten Rule"

There's a rule in Canada which appears on no statute books, yet it is engraved in the hearts of the people.

Constant, day after day observance of this rule is what makes Canada a country where freedom of thought, word and deed is truly respected and practiced.

It's the Rule of Moderation—moderation in all things.
And moderation, as The House of Seagram has frequently pointed out, includes temperate enjoyment of the luxuries of life.

Also in the use of whisky is the observance of the Rule of Moderation a credit to the Canadian people.
On the list of the world's most temperate nations,
Canada's name stands high—and bright!

Prepare the minced steak as for hamburger (that is, mince in an onion, and add an egg, matzo meal, and salt). Separate the leaves of cabbage, and parboil for about five minutes. Put a mound of salt in each cabbage leaf, and fold leaf over meat. Boil the tomatoes, and place the cabbage rolls in the boiling tomatoes. Cover and let simmer on a low fire. Add the brown sugar, lemon juice, and salt to taste. Let cook for about one and one-half hours. Then put in oven, uncovered, to brown.

Dean Of Song "Pluggers" Played For Fifty Years

Moss Gumble, representative of the Music Publishers Holding Corporation in New York, was found dead of a heart attack at Chicago, Ill., in his compartment aboard the westbound Twentieth Century Limited as it left Elkhart, Ind. His age was 71.

Mr. Gumble was on the way to Los Angeles, where, according to an appointment-pad, he was to have met Dinah Shore, Rudy Vallee, Harry Warren, song writer, and other Hollywood celebrities, apparently on business.

A sister, Mrs. Lily Moses, of New York, was notified of the death by the police.

Mr. Gumble had been known as the dean of song "pluggers". He was partly responsible for the success of "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree," "Smiles", "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles," "Oh, You Beautiful Doll," "April Showers", and "You're Driving Me Crazy", among others.

Born in Seymour, Ind., he learned to play the piano in his early teens. When he was 17 years old he got a job playing songs for prospective customers in a Cincinnati music shop. Coming to New York soon afterwards, he went to work for $15 a week as a pianist for the music publishing firm of Shapiro, Bernstein & Co.

In his new job he played for such stars as George M. Cohan, Weber and Fields, Nora Bayes and Blanche Ring instead of the general public.

Mr. Gumble promoted his first important hit, "Bedelia," in 1903. His contacts then were mainly in Coney Island, where he would work the entire day, going from dance hall to dance hall with his songs under his arm. Sometimes he slept on the beach, to be up in time for the cafe choruses at rehearsals in the morning.

In the early Twenties, Mr. Gumble was hired by the Jerome H. Remick Company, publishers of popular music. As head of the professional department of the company, he had on his staff several pianists who later achieved fame as song writers. Among them were George Gershwin, William J. McKenna, the late Herbert Spencer, Henry Marshall and the late Vincent Youmans.

When Warner Brothers in 1928 organized the Music Publishers Holding Corporation, merging the Remick Company with three other firms, Mr. Gumble formed the company of Donaldson, Douglas & Gumble. In 1936, the partnership was dissolved, and Mr. Gumble returned to the Remick Music Corporation, under the control of Warners, at 1250 Avenue of the Americas. Later he became manager of the exploitation department of all standard songs owned by Warner Brothers.

Friends recalled that he kept a table reserved for his guests at his favorite restaurant between 12 and 2 p.m. every day, starting the practice at Martin's at Broadway and Twenty-sixth Street, when the Remick offices were in that neighborhood. In recent years, a table had been reserved for him at the Toots Shor Restaurant, 51 West Fifty-first Street, where he recounted anecdotes about his early days in the song business.

Mr. Gumble was a founder of the Music Publishers Contact Men's Association, a relief organization for employees of music publishing firms.

Christian Front Rally Barred

Police barred the Christian Front from holding an outdoor mass meeting in Yorkville in New York, their old rallying ground.

Deputy Inspector Edmund P. Hennelly, of the 6th Division, said he refused permission to the group, which has dubbed itself "The Minute Men of Today," to meet at Second Avenue and Eighty-fifth Street. He added: "There'll be no street meetings of this kind in the area as long as I'm in command."

The first attempted meeting of the organization in Yorkville since the war had been advertised in circulars by C. Daniel Kurts, who indentified himself as a Christian Front leader of Queens County when arrested after a similar rally in 1945, the inspector said. Permission for the meeting, Inspector Hennelly said, was asked by Kurt Mertig, one-time secretary of the disbanded League of German-American Societies. Mertig was identified by the inspector as the man described in the circular as "the most courageous German-American in America."

Twenty policemen were stationed on the corner at 3 p. m. when the meeting had been scheduled to start. A group of about twelve adherents of the Front appeared but made no effort to meet. They faded away when Inspector Hennelly approached them.

The inspector said he had refused permission because "these men are rabble-rousers with records."

The Salameh and Hatikvah quarters on the border area of Jaffa and Tel Aviv have concluded a peace pact. Headmen of both quarters sat down to the traditional peace-meal with the families of victims of recent outbreaks on both sides participating. Speeches in Arabic and Hebrew deprecated the incidents which had marred the long-standing amity and pledged a pact of neighborliness and peace. Arabs and Jews from Jaffa and Tel Aviv have also made a similar pact in the home of the Mukhtar of the Yemenite quarter. The elders from both sides expressed their friendship and good neighborliness and, in the course of the festivities, signed a formal declaration to observe peace and quiet in the communities.

PANAMA REFUSES TO ACT AGAINST REFUGEE SHIPS

The Panama government has refused to take action against two Panamanian ships, the Pan Crescent and the Pan York, which are reported to have taken aboard 9,000 Jewish refugees in the Black Sea port of Constanta for illegal entry into Palestine, as it was reported in London.

Reliable sources said the Panama government informed Dr. Demetrio Porras, Panamanian Minister at London, that there appeared to be insufficient evidence to warrant action against the ships, as requested by the British government.

Proclaims Jewish Appeal Week In Oklahoma

Governor Roy J. Turner of Oklahoma called upon the people of his state to participate in the observance of United Jewish Appeal Week throughout the state. In his appeal for seven days of concentrated effort in behalf of the remnants of the 7,500,000 Jews of pre-war Europe, Gov. Turner summarized the problem facing the United Jewish Appeal as "peace and security for the 1,500,000 Jewish survivors in Europe and for those who are finding a haven in Palestine and the United States."

The fundamental nature and extreme importance of the United Jewish Appeal in its $170,000,000 nationwide campaign was described by Gov. Turner, as "a cause of major world significance, bearing within it the seeds of the regeneration of a people and the reclamation of men, women and children who have borne the greatest burden of sorrow and horror in the history of our time."

The Governor identified the problem of the United Jewish Appeal with that of humanity in general and of the United States in particular, in naming the situation of the homeless and helpless Jews as "the vital reality of our time", requiring a "reaffirmation of our faith and our belief in the fundamental principles of democracy."

Governor Turner saw the plight of the victims of Hitler as an opportunity for Christian and Jew to combine forces, when he urged "every citizen of Oklahoma to support this most worthy cause" and make the 1947 campaign of the United Jewish Appeal a success.

The official declaration by the Governor of Oklahoma coincided with the arrival of Henry Morgenthau, Jr., General Chairman of the United Jewish Appeal, in Oklahoma City.

You can help Hydro keep her there—Save Electricity

Ontario has made giant strides since the war. Her output from factories, farms and other industries has expanded enormously. In fact, her progress has been phenomenal.

Here is the rub. Since industry in Ontario depends so heavily on Electricity, this wonderful expansion has resulted in insistent calls for more and more Hydro power.

What is the Answer? Just this: Hydro has many new power developments under way, but it takes several years to build new generating plants. In the meantime Hydro asks each of you good Ontario citizens...homemakers, workers, farmers, storekeepers, business men to do your part...to Save Electricity. It should be easy. All of us use it lavishly—more so than any other people on earth—because Hydro rates are so low.

Every saving, no matter how small, will be worth while. Don't burn lights needlessly, use your electric range with care. Turn off motors and appliances as soon as you are finished with them. Please do your part and save electricity, everywhere you can. It's needed during every daytime hour.

Every bit of Electric Power saved will be used to maintain employment, to make more jobs, to keep Ontario on Prosperity Street.

Save Electricity—Maintain Employment

Not One Of The Obligations Of Democracy

The Nation says:

Great Britain needs no lessons from the United States in curbing the abuse of civil liberties. We did none too well with our Christian Fronters before the war, and the Ku Klux Klan has been a tolerated curse for some seventy years. But we have never had quite the human self-avowed fascist movement that appears to be growing in the industrial centers of Britain, and the government's seemingly tolerant view of it is painfully reminiscent of the Social Democrats' attitude in pre-Hitler Germany. Drew Middleton, reporting to the New York Times, writes that "Sir Oswald Mosley and the British League of Ex-Servicemen and Women are arousing considerable anxiety." Street meetings, at which black-shirted men hail Hitler and Mosley and urge violence against the Jews, have become weekly features of the London scene; the slogan "Perish Judah" is scrawled on the walls of London's East End buildings; and the Horst Wessel song is chanted in the streets. Yet J. Shuter Ede, the Home Secretary, has refused to ban fascist meetings even in the Jewish sections of London, where they are bound to be incendiary. And although several fascists have been arrested, he continues to allow the police to demand the names of hecklers in order to turn them over to the fascist chairmen under a regulation that clearly calls for reinterpretation or repeal. Just as our own slightly disguised fascists reached the peak of their daring in the depths of the depression, so England's political scum rises to the top in a period of severe strain and frustration. In the long run, a restoration of economic health is what will save the country, but meanwhile it should be obvious to its leaders that self-destruction in the name of civil liberty is not one of the obligations of a democracy.

Times.

As described by the Jewish Agency spokesman, the Jerusalem Civic Guard will consist of from 16,000 to 20,000 men and women organized on a house-to-house and [illegible] basis.

The Civic Guard, which resembles civilian air raid defense organizations established during the war, will also be responsible for food and fuel distribution in cases of emergency.

The obvious purpose of the guard is to provide a civilian organization supporting the Jewish community's armed forces which will take the field in case of an Arab attack.

While a majority of the country's Jews are preparing themselves to accept statehood in part of Palestine, if offered by the United Nations, the Zionist Revisionist party issued a manifesto against partition. The manifesto, published in the party's daily newspaper, called upon Palestine Jews to reject partition as an "historic betrayal of Zionism."

It said that the party would not recognize agreement by Zionist institutions to partition and would continue to struggle for a Jewish state in the "historic boundaries of Palestine"—that is, all of Palestine and Trans-Jordan. This program is the same as that of the Jewish terrorist forces.

Meanwhile, Ahmad Sharabaty, Syrian National Defense Minister, declared in Damascus that Syrian troops engaged in "manoeuvers" on Palestine's northern frontier would be increased to 10,000 men. Syria recently announced she was sending troops to the frontier in line with an Arab League decision to defend Palestine Arabs in event of a British withdrawal.

A Foreign Office spokesman, commenting, said Britain was aware of the manoeuvers but contemplated no action.

In connection with reports that 3,000 Iraqi sheiks had begun preparations for a holy war to support that of the Palestine Arabs, the spokesman added: "The Arabs are serious. There is no doubt of that. guns, shouting, singing and firing random shots, demonstrated at the end of a nation-wide conference of chieftains in Iraq, at which it was resolved to take a series of measures in defense of Palestine.

More than 1,000 leaders, representing, all tribes of the country, heard many speeches from Sheiks urging a holy war.

But it is clear that some time would have to elapse before any effective military force could be formed, because of armament and supply problems."

The reports were that several thousand tribesmen, waving their

The Arabs renewed their boycott campaign in earnest by bombing the Jaffa shops and causing injury to three persons. Damage in one establishment exceeded $10,000.

In each case the shop owners had been suspected of selling goods to Zionists in violation of the strict boycott agreement among Arabs. These incidents were the most serious since the boycott was resumed more than a year ago.

In Jerusalem there are fifteen Arab youths now awaiting examination before the district commission for activities in connection with the boycott.

or employment problems. In fact, there is at the present time a desperate shortage of the kind of labor which predominates among these DP's.

"The overwhelming majority of the displaced Jews desire to settle in Palestine. Facing closed doors everywhere else, at least 90 per cent at this time would migrate to Palestine if given the opportunity.

"If the United States should liberalize its immigration laws about 25 per cent of the Jewish DP's would choose to come here and about 75 per cent would continue to prefer Palestine. Even if Palestine should remain officially closed most of the Jews will still be determined to go there and will be prepared to brave hardships and dangers to reach their goal."

Rabbi Bernstein warned against a "great and close" danger of demoralization among the DP's who are now facing their third winter in camps, and against possible "serious trouble" arising through a sharp decline that he reported in available resources for them.

He also expressed apprehension lest "underlying irritations" in relations between the United States troops and the DP's become worse as time passes. The Germans, he said, "bitterly resent" the presence of the DP's in their midst and now "sharper tensions" have been reported.

He predicted that the withdrawal of United States forces would "again lead to pogroms."

"There must be no such withdrawal," he said, "until the Jewish DP's leave Germany, as all of them wish to do. It is perfectly clear that their early removal is imperative."

In the meantime, he urged the United States Army to initiate a program to reduce the threat of Germany anti-Semitism.

He praised United States high level military policy as having been "humane and just."

United States troops to do the job.

In the first place, it was understood that Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican, of Michigan, questioned whether the President has authority to commit the use of United States troops in Palestine without the express authority of Congress.

In the second place, the Joint Chiefs of Staff are known to have recommended against the use of United States troops to implement the United Nations partition plan.

On the basis of these observations, it is known that Mr. Truman urged caution on the United States delegates to the United Nations and expressly instructed them not to make any commitment that could obligate the country to use Government troops to carry out any settlement of the Palestine problem.

In short, though the United States answered, for the time being, some of the difficult legal and political questions that always rise in Washington over Palestine, noted James Reston, in the same paper, it has not answered the basic question about who shall keep things quiet while Palestine is being divided.

U.S. Jewish Veterans Elect New Leader

For the first time the Jewish War Veterans of the United States have elected a Midwesterner as the national commander. He is Col. Julius Klein, forty-six years old, Chicago public relations consultant and former newspaper man.

Colonel Klein's victory came over Jackson J. Holtz, Boston lawyer, on the first ballot, with the Chicagoan having a several hundred vote edge among the 2,500 votes cast. The vote was then made unanimous.

The new commander succeeds Milton H. Richman of Hartford, Conn. The organization has 104,000 members and 612 posts.

Colonel Klein is veteran of both World Wars and had thirty-five months of action in the South Pacific and the Philippines during World War II. He received several decorations and after V-J Day he served as special assistant to Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson.

The new commander pledged himself to a program of "100 per cent Americanism, without any deviation to any other 'ism.'" The organization, he said, would work with the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and other veterans' groups as spokesman for the 550,000 Jewish veterans of World War II and the one-quarter million veterans of World War I. It also would work with all organizations, Jewish and non-sectarian, for the furtherance of American democracy.

BARUCH TO RECEIVE FOUNDATION AWARD FOR MERIT

The Woodrow Wilson Foundation announced that its 1947 award for distinguished service will be presented to Bernard M. Baruch, November 10, at a dinner in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York.

The dinner commemorates the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Foundation. The award to Mr. Baruch, senior U.S. statesman, will be presented by Josephus Daniels, who served under President Wilson as Secretary of the Navy. The award is made to the individual "who has rendered within a specific period of time meritorous service to democracy, public welfare, liberal thought or peace through justice." Previous recipients include Viscount Cecil of London, Elihu Root, Thomas Masaryk, Norman Davis, Cordell Hull and Henry L. Stimson.

large Arab minority.

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian foreign minister, is chairman of the Palestine committee of the General Assembly. The nine-member Arab subcommittee on Palestine, as appointed by Dr. Evatt, was made up of eight members, Arab or Moslem or both; Colombia the ninth member. The Arabs wanted more so-called neutrals, like Colombia, so that their recommendation for an Arab-controlled Palestine might have a semblance of non-Arab support. But the Arabs were against enlarging the partition sub-committee, because that could put on the record added support for partition, in favor pro-Jewish plans.

A. J. C. Cited By U.S. Army

The American Jewish Committee received recognition for its cooperation with U.S. Army G-2 Section, in helping to expose subversive elements during the war, when its counsel, George J. Mintzer, received a certificate of merit in a ceremony at the Lawyers Club, 115 Broadway, New York. Lieut. Col. Charles E. J. Newman of the General Staff Corps, officiated, representing Gen. Courtney H. Hodges, First Army Commander, and read the citation commending Mr. Mintzer, "for his outstanding assistance to the United States Army in gathering valuable information pertaining to Communists, subversives, Nazis, pro-Nazis, Nazi sympathizers, Fascists, Falangists, and their many front organizations within the First Army area."

In accepting the citation, Mr. Mintzer said the committee "for more than forty years has devoted most of its efforts in endeavoring to protect the civil and religious rights of Jews." He added that in so doing "it has helped to protect and preserve the civil and religious rights of citizens of all faiths."

Emphasizing the committee's aims to wage a constant education campaign in support of the principles of American democracy, he characterized the committee as "highly patriotic in the truest sense of the word."

A message from Governor Dewey of New York commending Mr. Mintzer for "its fine public spirit and the services he has rendered to the common good" was read by Carl J. Austrian, former chairman of the organization's legal committee.

Joseph M. Proskauer, president of the American Jewish Committee, praised its policy of "steering a middle course" in Jewish matters.

In Lods, Rudolph Malyna was sentenced to be hanged for torturing Jewish prisoners at Oswiecim death camp.

The Canadian Jewish Review is the only Jewish publication in Canada printed in any language reaching the Jewish community which is able to claim membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations.
